Note: Not all 5 layers need to be stamped for a great result! You could stop at 3!

Step 1 Step 2

TIPS:

1) For best results stamp the lightest layer first. Then choose an edge where you see an obvious common area or line (often the bottom edge or a "corner").

2) You can use one ink pad to achieve 3 different shades. For example, on the first layer, ink up the stamp, stamp it off once on scratch paper then stamp again on your card stock. Next, stamp layer 2 in the same ink over layer one but without "stamping off" first.

Lastly, stamp the third layer in the same ink but go over a second time to achieve a darker shade. Note, this is much easier with a stamp aligning tool!
